Precious Memories

There comes a time in everyone's life when the reality of work and family impacts heavily on one's brief stint here on earth.

However, until that time, we struggle to find our place in this world through friendships, fellowship, and various educational pursuits. We are told at an early age the friendships one develops in college are usually the ones that tend to last a lifetime. Therefore, don't be afraid to embrace every opportunity these hallowed walls will bestow upon you to grow, develop, and secure your worth in this ever changing world.

Wingate College and the Precious Memories you build here are your greatest assets you will hold as you embark upon your life's journey.

College life includes much more than mere studying. It includes fellowship and fun.

It also involves the community in many ways.

Students open bank accounts, eat in local restaurants, and attend local churches.

These all remain embedded in our minds to become part of the Precious Memories of our days here at Wingate.

Classes

We are 1544 strong - 711 males and 833 females. We have come from as far away as Japan and from as near as a block away. From the freshman leaving home for the very first time, to the seasoned senior who anticipates an exciting career, we come in hopes of reaching our personal dreams. We hope for enrichment, for fellowship, and for an introduction to a whole new world. All these are a part of our Precious Memories as diverse as we are - the Student Body of

Wingate College

Seniors

We are at the end of one journey and ready to begin another one. We will leave here to begin exciting careers, marriages, and travels.

All of us are capable of being outstanding leaders wherever we settle for we have been prepared well. Our task is finished and we leave Wingate in good hands.

From this moment we are called "Alumni".

In the years ahead, our sense of loyalty will grow for each of us has stored up many Precious Memories.

Board of Trustees

To become a member of the Wingate College Board of Trustees, a person must go through a nominating process. Candidates are recommended to the Committee on Nominations of the North Carolina State Baptist Convention.

Trustees are elected for a four-year term and may be re-elected after a one year absence.

The Board of Trustees meet regularly in May, September, and December. Special meetings, however, may be called by the chair or any five board members.

The Board functions by breaking into specialized committees. These include: executive committee, academic affairs, business affairs, student affairs, development, and investment.

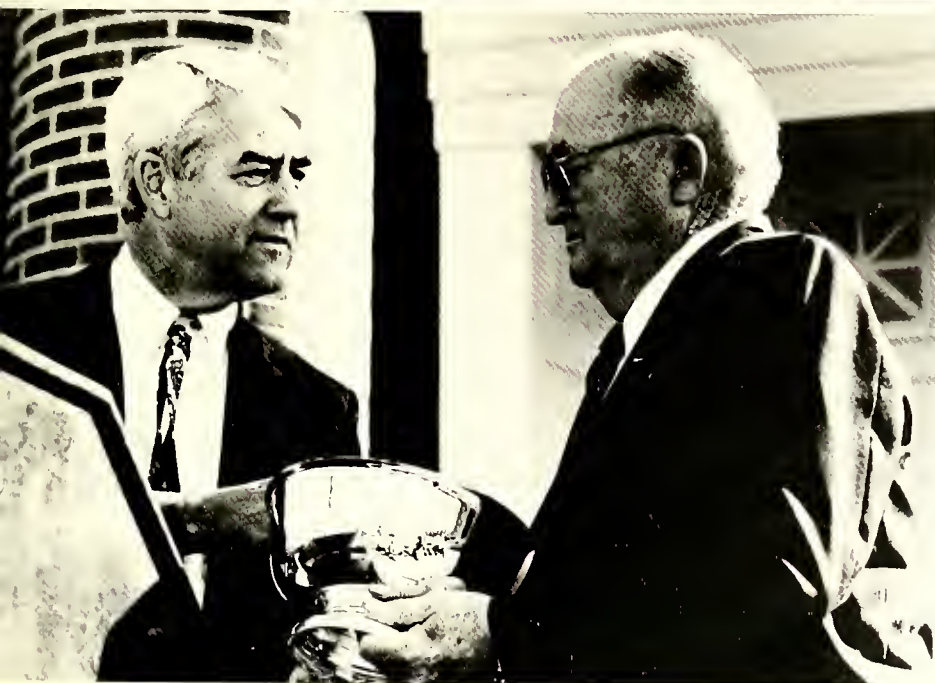

Wingate's Board of Trustees has established a strict policy of fiscal responsibility. No major building project can be launched until money is available. Wingate College has been debt free for over thirty (30) years.

Occupations of trustees range from business executives, homemakers, physicians, ministers, attorneys, realtors, and other educators.

Dr. McGee presents
F. Bernard Helms with the 1993
Distinguished Alumni
Award

Dr. Jerry McGee

Wingate's President

In August, 1992, Dr. Jerry E. McGee became the thirteenth president of Wingate College. In his opening comments he stated, "I came here not as an agent of change, but as a builder." One can already see action behind these words.

Dry Chapel has been completely restored, elevators have been installed in both Burnside-Dalton Fine arts Building and Cannon Classroom Building, and the Efird Library has been revamped to hold the papers of Mr. Charles Cannon as well as other college memorabilia. Dr. McGee has also led in the establishment of an MBA program at the Matthews satellite campus, which has already grown beyond its expectations.

Understanding the importance of a competent faculty, Dr. McGee has targeted faculty salaries for immediate improvement. According to Dr. McGee, "This is essential in retaining and building a fine faculty."

However, Dr. McGee is not all work and no play. He has an unusual and interesting sideline. Since 1973, he has officiated football games in a number of leagues, including the ACC.

What is the old cliché? Behind every great man is a great woman. This is certainly true of the McGees. Dr. McGee's strongest supporter is his wife, Hannah. Her gracious manner makes everyone feel welcome when in her presence. The McGees have two sons, Ryan and Sam. The family works hard to maintain strong ties with one another.

Robert Mullinax, Executive Director of the Council on Christian Higher Education in North Carolina, and friend of the college, speaks highly of Jerry McGee when he says that people are comfortable with McGee. He stated, "In my view, the future looks bright at Wingate College." - We Agree!

Dr. William Christie

Wingate's Provost

- Hard Work - Hard Work -

Dr. William Christie became Wingate College's Provost in the fall of 1993. He came to this position with a wide range of administrative experience.

Shortly after his arrival, Dr. Christie realized the school had a genuine need. "We have done insufficient marketing of Wingate College's great strengths. We are doing many things well, and people need to know this."

Dr. Christie says he is pleased with what he has seen in the faculty. He boasts about faculty dedication to the academic task.

In a recent interview, he said he had already set goals for the next five years. "Wingate should be known for the intensive way the faculty engages students both inside and outside the classroom."

He believes the college can guarantee first-rate teaching. However, in his view, that is not enough. "Faculty would engage and challenge students to become a community of scholars."

Dr. Christie's goals for the next five years include things like:

- 1- Paying students to do scholarly work while working with faculty in co-authoring scholarly papers and research.
- 2- Forming student investment clubs that will manage part of the college endowment. This can be done under the supervision of faculty members.
- 3- Forming music ensembles who, with the aide of the music professors, would focus on the learning of some of the more difficult pieces that the present class time doesn't allow for.

Dr. Christie is already working hard to initiate these goals and set the tone for Wingate College's future.

RAYMOND SOWDER

If you were searching for a flamboyant leader, Ray Sowder would not be your man. However, if you were looking for a quiet, effective manager who shuns the limelight, you've found him. His official title is "Senior Vice President for Business Affairs and Treasurer," but to his friends, he's just plain "Ray".

A thoughtful, caring, and understanding man on the inside, Mr. Sowder prides himself on being tough and hard on the outside. This sense of exterior toughness and inner concern is depicted in a picture which he has hanging in his office. The picture is of an American Bald Eagle sitting majestically with the caption underneath stating, "I am smiling".

Mr. Sowder loves to talk about old times in Kentucky, airplanes, and his days in the Air Force, but his forte is being a true history buff of all the major wars.

Under his direction, Wingate is assured of a better tomorrow.

Jeanel Keesler waits patiently as Mr. Sowder reviews a document.

Mr. Sowder enjoys an opportunity to put his feet up during another hectic day.

DONALD B. HASKINS

Don Haskins, Dean and Senior Vice President, is responsible for the supervision of 11 different departments within the umbrella of Student Development. More importantly, he is a beloved leader who has effectively and faithfully served Wingate College for 34 years.

Dr. Haskins' Business Law course is one of the most popular courses offered and gives students a surprisingly different side of him. His antics in class are discussed throughout the campus. Students are aware of his genuine concern for their welfare.

Wingate, in most social circles, cannot be discussed without some question concerning the welfare of Dean Haskins. He is a symbol of Wingate that crosses all boundaries and he continues to be the most loved friend of our college.

Dean Haskins views the daily activities outside his window.

Denise Ross gets valuable advice from her boss.

Dean prepares for a hectic day in the classroom.

The Handshake of Peace

On a sunny Monday,
September 13, 1993,
three American presidents gawked in awe, just like everyone else, at a sudden turn toward peace.

All eyes were on two old enemies in their new roles as peacemakers, men who say peace "salaam" in Arabic or "shalom" in Hebrew.

President Clinton, who guided Arab
Yasser Arafat and Jew Yitzhak Rabin toward their historic handshake, called it a "great occasion of history and hope."

"Seinfeld" - New member of the sitcom Old Boys Club!

By the time they finished handing out
the prime time Emmy
Awards on September
29, 1993, "Seinfeld"
had received three trophies.

Micheal Jordan

One of the biggest stories of the 1993-1994 basketball season occurred before the first pre-season
exhibition game -- Micheal Jordan, the world's best basketball player, announced his retirement.

West Coast - At 4:31am on Monday, January 17, 1994, an earthquake of 6.6 magnitude struck Southern California, claiming 61 lives and leaving damage that may total $30 billion.

Midwest - The floods that washed across the Midwest have been the worst in American History, and they captured the concern of people across the nation.

East Coast - Across the Northeast, the Midwest and large parts of the South, the Arctic air with wind chills up to 74 below zero swept with relentless force. This blizzard dumped enough snow to paralyze several states.

The 1994 Bulldogs Baseball team underwent a few changes. Long-time head Coach Ron Christopher was replaced by Bill Nash.

Coach Nash was assisted by former Bulldog Frank Pait.

"There are great possibilities and we're going to test ourselves early," Nash said.

"We should be good as well as entertaining."

The Bulldogs put forth a great effort under the leadership of Nash and Wingate's fans are looking for even more exciting games as time progresses.

The Bulldogs tied the school - record for wins in a season with six on their way to a 6-5 season (3-4 in the South Atlantic Conference). Wide receiver Mike Ragin, free safety Todd Conrad, linebacker Kendall Chafin, quarterback Vernon Buck, and offensive lineman Jason Self were all - SAC picks.

Ragin received a very prestigious honor at the end of the season. He was selected to play in the first-ever Snow Bowl in Fargo, N.D. This game is a showcase game for NCAA Division II football stars. It benefits the Shriner's Hospital for crippled children.

It was a season of firsts for Wingate, with its first 11-game schedule and its first NCAA Division I-AA opponent (East Tennessee State). In other firsts, Buck led the SAC in total offense, while Ragin led the way in receiving yards. Fullback Joey Huffstetler became Wingate's first 1,000 yard rusher in five years with his 1,161 yard year.

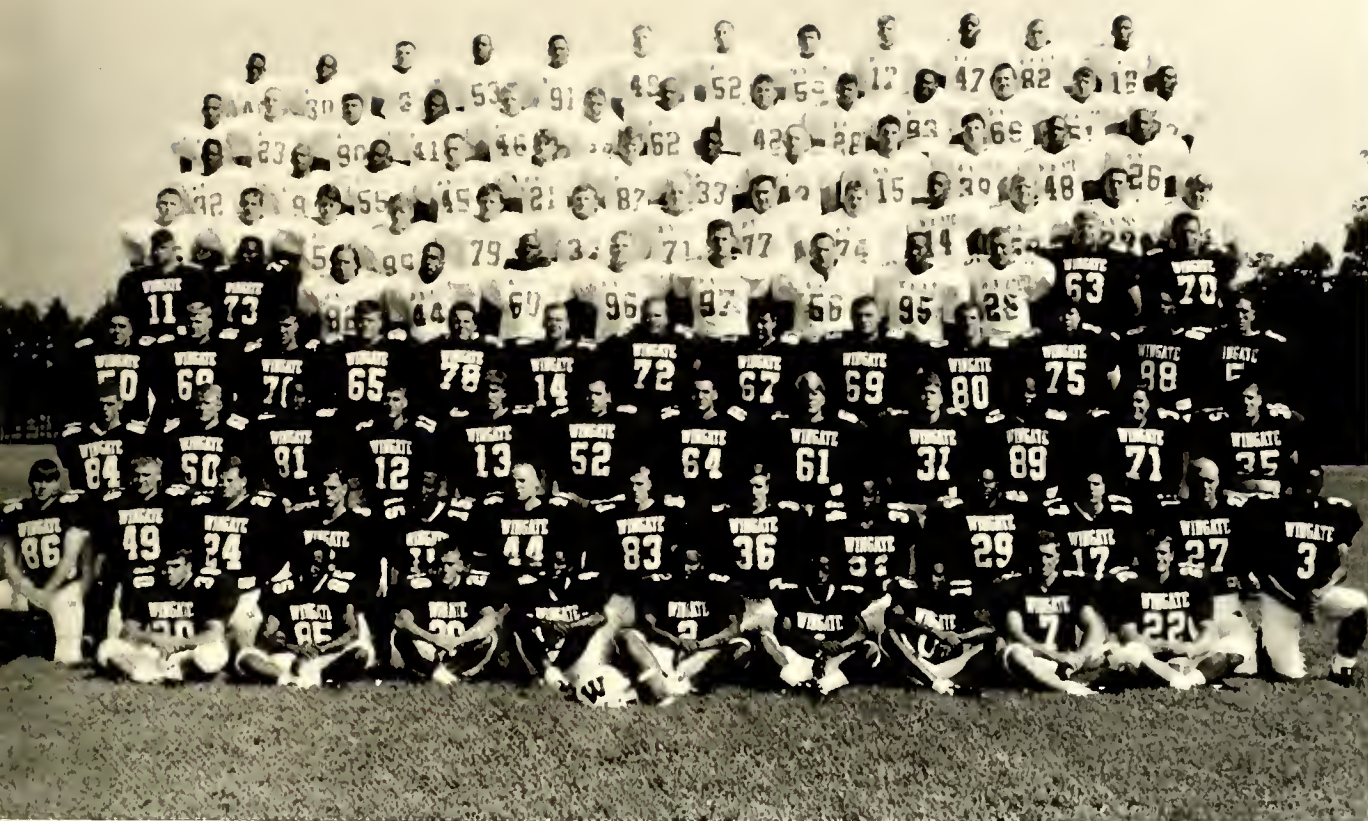

Wingate's offense led the SAC in total yardage, while on the other side of the ball, Conrad led the SAC in total tackles (151). Conrad was 41 tackles ahead of his nearest competition. Center Doug Turner was an all-District III academic pick for his hard work in the classroom.

Men's Soccer

Wingate compiled a 15-6-1 record (4-2-1 in the SAC) in 1993, the best soccer season in Wingate senior college history. Wingate coach Gary Hamill was SAC and NSCAA Southern Region soccer "Coach of the Year" for his efforts. He guided the Bulldogs from a last-place finish the year before to a second place league finish in his first full year of college coaching.

There were two players who excelled in scoring this year Mike Marsocci and Ron Ladimir. Marsocci led the SAC in scoring, while Ladimir led the SAC freshmen in scoring and assists.

The 1993 season will go down in the record books as one of the greatest stories in the history of Wingate athletics.

Coach James Mumford is keeping the records straight!

Coach James Mumford led the Lady Bulldogs to a 25 - 12 overall record (5-2 in the SAC) in 1993. for his hard work, Mumford was named the 1993 SAC "Coach of the Year."

Three Lady Bulldogs were named all - conference: hitters Tammy Pool and Marcie Miller and setter Rebeka Rivera. All three players will return in 1994, as Pool is a junior, Miller a sophomore, and Rivera a freshmen (in 1993).

Wingate hosted the 1993 Food Lion/SAC Volleyball Tournament, as well as two in-season tournaments, the Wingate Invitational and the Wingate Jamboree. Wingate finished second in its own Invitational and its own Jamboree. The Lady Bulldogs posted a 2 - 2 record in the SAC tournament.

Coach Mumford hopes for an even better 1994, as the 1993 roster shows no seniors. Hitters Jenny Yearick and Carla Nicholson will provide help up front, while fellow hitter Julie MacRae may be one of the hardest workers in the SAC.

Wingate's Athletic Trainer's work hard to keep the athletes in shape. They stay in tune with all of the medical advances which aides in the development of physically fit individuals. All of the various teams rely heavily on the work of the trainers. Without their efforts, the teams would sufficiently lack in ability and endurance when in competition.

The job these trainers perform does not stop with the end of the season. Rather they continue to heal, inform, and care for the medical needs of the athletes. The trainers are sincerely appreciated for their work and this is the opportunity for Wingate's Coaches and athletes to say , Thanks!!

Mmm Mmm - give me some more of this happy juice!

What is one of the most popular repeat events on campus where students have an excuse to look foolish? It is Hypnotist Jim Wand's Show!

An enthusiastic audience helped to make the evening full of fun and laughs. The students, while hypnotized, became planes, were involved in a high speed truck race, participated in a prestigious dog show, and drank "happy juice."

When told of their shananagans, the students could not believe their actions. But there were too many eyewitnesses - and The Gate has pictures!

Parent's

Parent's Weekend is an opportunity for parents to come and see how their child is adjusting to the collegiate atmosphere. Parents hope that their children are learning, making long lasting friendships, and, although most don't like to admit it, having some plain old fun.

Dr. McGee, professors, and staff members are made available to answer any questions or address any concerns.

During this visit, parents are treated to entertainment by the students of Wingate.

Semester in London

On September 15, 1993, 29 students along with Dr. Sylvia Little and Ms. Bridgett Tilley flew to London, England for Wingate's Semester - in - London program. This number was twice as large as any previous group.

In London, students attended classes taught by British instructors and by Dr. Little. In one course, British art and architecture was studied. "I'll never look at a building the same way again." That's the way Trey Cameron summed up the class.

British religion and history were examined by on-site visits. And Shakespeare came alive as the group under Dr. Little's guidance read plays and viewed them at Stratford on Avon.

Trips were made to the celebrated Lake Country and to Plymouth. Students viewed 14 plays in London's theaters.

The group lived in flats at Queensway. "We experienced Londoners where we lived," Nolan Belk said.

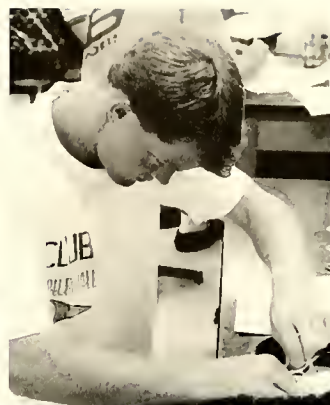

Side trips included Paris, Venice, Florence, and Rome. Some students received a papal blessing from Pope John Paul II.

With a venturesome spirit, one had chances to strike out on his or her own. Trey Cameron flew to Athens and caught a ferry to the Greek Islands where he said the water was sparkling clear...Others went to Frankfurt and stayed in youth hostels.

Early in December, the group returned to America. They had been gone 90 days.

Union County Players at Laney

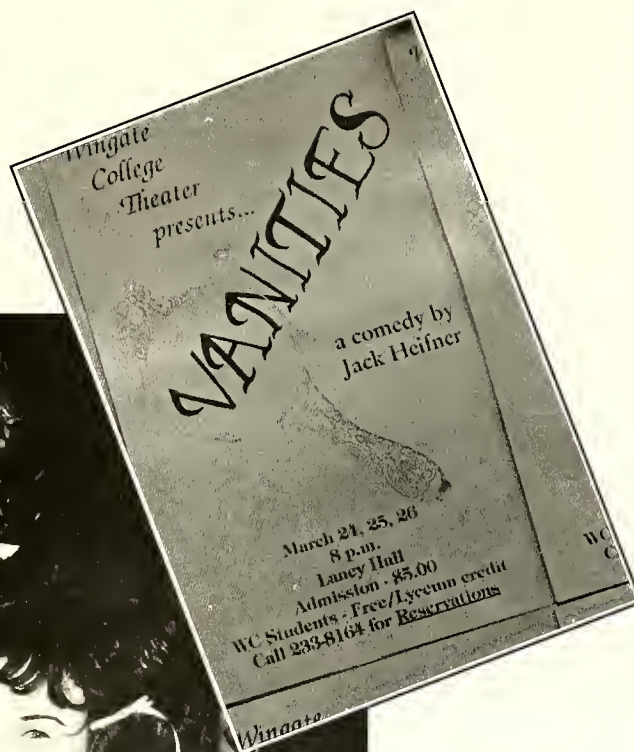

Wingate Professor Larry Coleman, spends a great deal of his time out of class working with both the Union County Players and Wingate Theater groups in order to pursue one of his many love's the theater.

Mr. "C" , as his affectionately called, utilizes the equipment and props in Laney Auditorium to bring quality productions to the students as well as the community throughout the year. Although the Union County Players is an off campus organization, Mr "C" encourages students to participate with the Players in hopes that the work will allow for growth and development in the area of behind the scenes production.

Many professors at Wingate work with Mr "C" and the Players to have some fun and to fulfill their acting desires. Estelle Snyder and Roberto Lazo acted in the Fall production, " The New Odd Couple".

The Saint Valentine's Day King and Queen of Hearts

The crowning of the Saint Valentine's Day King and Queen occurred on the seventh of February. The crowning of the King and Queen as well as the Prince and Princess was completed during the half - time show of a Lady Bulldog's basketball game. Seniors were asked to vote on who would be the King and Queen. Scott Morrison was crowned King and Sonya Little was crowned Queen. The runner ups were Katie Young and Eddy Street who were crowned the Saint Valentine's Day Prince and Princess. In the somewhat elaborate ceremony, the King, Queen, Prince, and Princess were enthroned. The King and the Prince each received a crown and scepter and the Queen and the Princess was given flowers. The events of the day were topped off with the Lady Bulldogs winning yet another game as they continue to strive for victory in the South Atlantic Conference.

Construction

One of the most notable events this year has been the construction that has been going on all over campus. Everything from the placing of Honor Code signs within classrooms to the addition of elevators to Burnside-Dalton and the Cannon Textile Building.

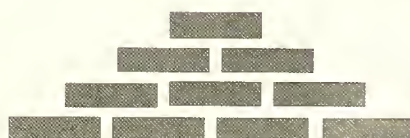

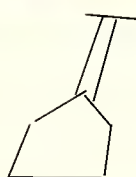

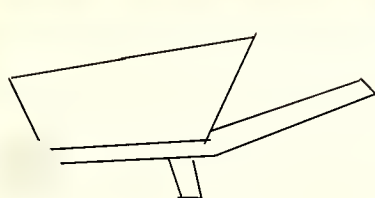

The Efird Building was renovated to hold the Wingate College/Charles A. Cannon Archives. The necessary renovations lied mostly within the building itself. The Efird Building was gutted and completely redone in order to discover its potential as well as to pass today's stricter building codes.

The other most notable construction was that of the replacement of the roof on Sanders-Sykes Gymnasium.

9. Get enough sleep, if you don't, you don't function as well
10. Appreciate the beautiful moments of today, for tomorrow they will be but a memory

The Student Government Association worked diligently throughout the '93-'94 school year. Various projects were discussed and tackled, with one goal in mind, which was to better the school in any capacity. After much hard work and many months, a revised Honor Code presented by the SGA to the trustees was passed on Jan. 27th, 1994. Cases were heard in complete confidentiality by the new honor board. The Honor Code is definitely more thorough and penalties are clearly defined. SGA also hosted events such as the Miss Alumni and Miss Wingate pageants, and various off campus service projects.

The Senior class officers had a hand in deciding upon a graduation speaker, senior gift, and the senior party.

SGA sponsored the "Mad Breakfast" during exam week and was in charge of all voting procedures. But behind the scenes even more went on in SGA. Members served on college committees as the voice of the students. The committees consisted of the Academic Affairs Committee, Public Relations Committee, Student Development, and the Library Committee, just to name a few.

Through this year, SGA accomplished many difficult tasks but beyond the work, much was learned. It taught many to be dedicated, how to get along with others, and to work as a team.

Christian Student Union

Looking for a club that promotes unity and fellowship of all students? CSU could definitely be the organization for you. CSU stands for Christian Student Union and is open to anyone wanting to find out more about bible studies. The organization is presently student led. Joe Easterling is the President and does the planning for the club. Mike Hamilton, Wingate's Campus Minister, implements ideas but mostly maintains an advisory position.

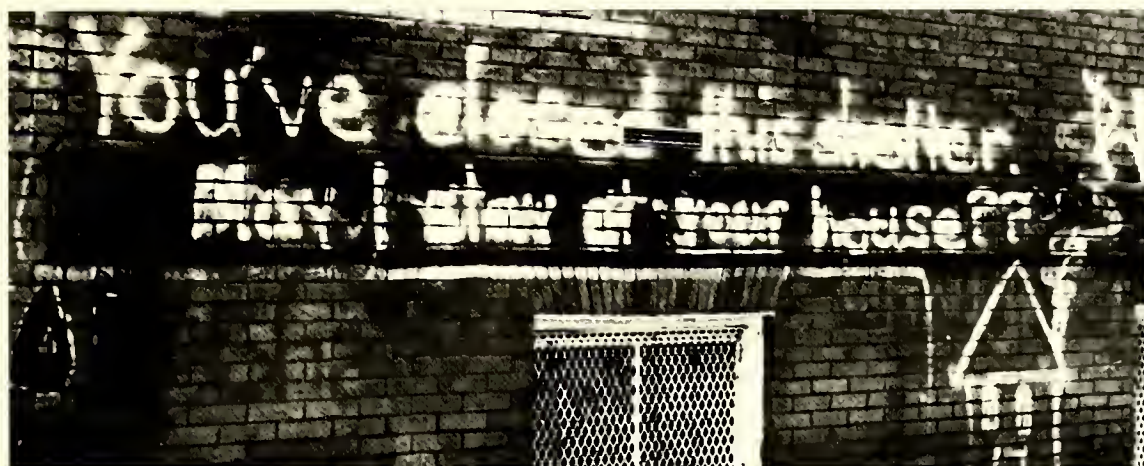

Some of the organization's activities are to help raise money to send out summer missionaries, the sponsoring of Spring Break Mission Retreats which focuses on helping those who are in need of help in various areas, and the formation of a unified group of individuals, regardless of their religious backgrounds, to do God's work.

CSU is a vital key in the area of day to day coping of the students of Wingate.

In Memory of

The flag flew at half mast Tuesday, March 8th as Wingate mourned the death of Douglas Helms, a fine arts professor. He was 48.

A native of Monroe, Helms enrolled in Wingate College as a student in 1964. Ten years later, he joined the faculty. Helms was known across the region for his hand-made pottery.

Helms found a relationship between his faith, his pottery, and his life. He demonstrated this relationship while making pottery. Helms taught students that they, like clay, had to get their lives centered on Christ before they could do anything with it. They must open up and let God's hands draw them up into a piece of art.

Helms conducted his classrooms with the same high standards he used in his work and his life.

He was the neatest artist I've ever known," Louise Napier said. "To have that much creativity and be that organized is unusual for an artist. "I admired the rapport he had with his students. It was also so easy for him to be both a teacher and a friend," Napier said.

Wingate photography professor Lex Youngman said, "I think the best thing we can do is carry on his high standards." "When we mourn, it's for our own loss, not for Doug. He's where he should be - he just went away sooner than we wanted him to. We can either dwell on our loss or remember the gifts he gave us."

Woodson

Retires after 29 years of service

Dr. Walter Woodson, associate professor of journalism and communications and faculty advisor to "The Gate," will retire at the end of this academic year.

Woodson, who joined the faculty in 1965 as an English professor, played a key role in the creation of Wingate's communications program during the late 1970s.

Woodson has seen Wingate evolve from a junior college to a four-year institution, and he has referred to that change as "one of the best things that's happened to Wingate."

In addition to serving as faculty sponsor for the yearbook and the newspaper, Woodson has served as advisor to the Society for Collegiate Journalists. Until it ceased to exist in the mid - 1980s, he also worked with the college debate team.

At Wingate, Woodson has taught courses in English literature and composition. He has taught all the journalism courses and many of the communications courses the college offers, as well as speech classes in public speaking, argumentation, and pulpit speaking.

He has led W'International tours to London, Paris and Amsterdam and has taken Great American Experience groups to Boston, New York, Chicago, and New Orleans.

Woodson and his wife, Phyllis, live in the Grove Park development in Wingate, where Woodson enjoys

THE PHYSICAL STATE OF THE 1994 GATE STAFF

THE MENTAL STATE OF THE 1994 GATE STAFF

Final Words

It has been a privilege to be your editor-in-chief this year. However, I never imagined that it would be so much work or such a headache. I now hold the past editors in a lot higher esteem after experiencing this past year.

It has been said that sometimes the teacher learns more than the student. I believe that to be true, for I have learned far more than I anticipated. The staff has changed almost completely from the staff at the beginning of the year. That alone was an adjustment not to be wished on anyone. But, when the dust settled, the staff all rallied around the fact that we wanted this book to be special and something we were proud of. I believe we achieved it.

Yearbooks should be "picture books" and we wanted to give you as many pictures as we could. We hope that you will enjoy this book for years to come.

"Precious," maybe, but "Memories," definitely!

with gratitude and love -DONNA - '94

Working on The Gate this year has been both a labor of love as well as one of hate. It will be hard for me to let go of a task which has allowed me the opportunity to learn a great deal about my Alma Mater. I shall never be able to thank completely all of you who worked so diligently in assuring me a sense of comfort when all seemed lost.

It has been a difficult year for Donna and me as we had to overcome a lot of adversity. This adversity however, has afforded me the opportunity to grow and become a better person as well as a greater Christian in ways only few of you would understand. Our faith was tested most everyday but I stand proudly knowing that in some way God's will for me has been met by participating in this endeavor.

I have loved being able to develop a close friendship with both Donna and Dr. Woodson. These two individuals have influenced my life in very unique ways. College curriculums are designed to feed and prepare the mind but friendships and circumstances develop the heart and the soul. Therefore, I am grateful to have been a class mate with such wonderful people like you. Professors, teachers, and students alike have made me a better person and I hope that in return I have given to you a few Precious Memories you can cherish for years to come. May God Bless you always JOHN - '94
